Sustainability

The 29th trade mission focuses on sustainable innovations and investments. Sustainable means striving to start long-term partnerships. Participants include companies, employers' organizations, the financial sector (trust and banking), industry associations and government authorities from the Netherlands, the Caribbean parts of the Kingdom, the Caribbean region and Suriname. InterExpo cooperates closely with various Business Associations in the region.

Entrepreneurs

Entrepreneurs from the Kingdom of the Netherlands, active in fire safety and environmentally friendly technologies, explains why the trade mission on Curaçao is interesting: 'Dutch legislation is applicable to the windward islands of Saba and Sint Eustatius and these economies are thus very accessible for Dutch companies'. Other islands in the Caribbean region and Suriname, such as Saint Vincent and Antigua, have also caught their attention.

Matchmaking

During the trade mission's matchmaking part, participants can engage in conversations on the development of new partnerships and seizing opportunities in their respective markets. InterExpo offers a customized service; using a clear profile, a "match" based on the specific business desires of a party will be pursued.
